

WOMAN ACCUSED OF LETTER THEFT IS FIGHTING BACK

Mrs. Stettler Says Charge Was Trumped Up by George Wolfe.

HE MARRIED HER RIVAL.
Defendant Asserts That Wolfe
Is Trying to Scare Her Into Dropping Another Suit.

A slender, determined looking little woman, fashionably attired, appeared before United States Commissioner Shields to-day and told a story of alleged persecution on the part of the man with whom she lived as common law wife for almost twenty years. She says he was lured away by a handsome liver.

The woman was Mrs. Caroline S. Stettler, who lives at No. 30 West Fifty-fourth street, and who says she is at the head of a real estate company, the name of which she refused to give. She was arraigned before Commissioner Shields on a charge preferred by George Wolfe, her former mate, who accused her of stealing a letter addressed to him at No. 30 West Forty-second street, on Sept. 20, 1912, which letter is alleged to contain a deed to a parcel of land in Staten Island.
Mrs. Stettler declared the charge was brought against her as a threat to make her cease certain litigation against Wolfe and also to "bluff" her out of appearing as a witness against Wolfe in his coming trial on an indictment charging him with forging a deed to land in Staten Island, ownership of which Mrs. Stettler claims.

WOMAN CHARGES WOLFE WITH FORGING DEED.

Mrs. Stettler in October, 1912, charged Wolfe with forging a deed to a plot of land she owned in Staten Island. He was indicted in December, 1912, on that charge. Mrs. Stettler also instituted an action for the cancellation of deeds to certain land in New York County which were held in the name of Wolfe's wife.

Mrs. Stettler was the principal witness for the prosecution against Wolfe on the forgery charge in the Staten Island courts, but on Feb. 27, 1913, shortly before the Wolfe trial was to be held, Mrs. Stettler's attorney, Austin Montegri, filed a complaint alleging that she was of unsound mind. The woman was sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation. At the end of ten days the alienists pronounced her sane and she was released.

Wolfe's trial was begun March 24 last. The trial consumed several days and resulted in the jury failing to agree on a verdict. His second trial was set for the May term.

Mrs. Stettler stated that several days ago Wolfe and his attorney came to her and demanded that she drop her suits for cancellation of deeds against Wolfe and also the forgery charge. She declared that they told her if she did not she would find herself in serious trouble. She says she refused all offers of a compromise and declares the charge that she stole the letter addressed to Wolfe followed.

Commissioner Shields permitted Mrs. Stettler to furnish $100 bail for examination next Wednesday.

WOMAN CONVICTED FOR CARRYING DRUG TO TOMBS PRISONER

After an effort extending through many years a conviction has been obtained in a case of a person charged with smuggling drugs into the Tombs.

Mrs. Helen Gay of No. 64 Fourth avenue was convicted in special Session under the section of the code which makes it a misdemeanor to have cocaine or similar drugs in one's possession when entering a prison.
Deputy Commissioner of Corrections William J. Wright was responsible for the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Gay. Recently he had all the "dope" users in the Tombs segregated in one tier, and the other day when Mrs. Gay called on her husband, George Gay, confined in the "dope tier," he had her watched. Her actions led to Commissioner Wright ordering her searched, and a quantity of cocaine was found in her shoe.

Persons accused of bringing drugs into the Tombs heretofore have swamped on the plea that they were addicted to the habit themselves and had the drug in their possession for their own use. The section of the code against having drugs in one's possession when entering a prison was dug up, however, and Mrs. Gay's conviction followed. Sentence will be imposed later.

ROLLING CHORUS OF "NOES" DOWNS TARIFF OPPOSITION.

Democrats in House Overwhelm Republicans Who Offer Amendments to Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Democratic Tariff Revision Bill advanced another stage in the House to-day when the reading of the measure, paragraph by paragraph, was begun. Amendments will be offered by the Republicans and the Progressives, as the minority, while the bill progresses through this part of its legislative journey and some amendments that may seem best in the light of developments may be brought in by the Ways and Means Committee majority.

Majority Leader Underwood made it apparent that the Democrats intend to hurry the bill through. He objected to all requests for extension of time for debate and confined the discussion strictly to the paragraphs under consideration.

As consideration of the bill went on amendment after amendment proposed by the Republicans was rejected with rolling choruses of noes from the Democratic side.
